Federal Funds Rate

The U.S. Federal Reserve cut the federal funds rate to a new target range of 0.00% - 0.25%. According to the Wall Street Journal, this marks the first time the Fed has cut interest rates on two separate occasions between scheduled meetings since the Fed began announcing rate movements in 1994. The Fed has announced a plethora of lending facilities to inject liquidity into the bond market.

Interest Rates

Interest rates have fallen significantly since the start of the year, with the U.S. 10-year Treasury yield closing at 0.54% on March 9. Rates have backed up since and the curve has steepened modestly with the spread between 2-year and 10-year Treasuries at about 53 bps.

Commodity Prices

The price of oil has dropped sharply following the breakdown in the alliance between Russia and the OPEC cartel. This compounded the existing uncertainty in the market due to the coronavirus and caused a broad sell-off in equity markets.

Staying the Course

Periods of market consolidation occur regularly in well functioning capital markets.
